LUNCHEON INVITATION

Monday 7th of October, 2019

12.00 - 02.00 p.m.

Golf Club Grand Ducal Luxembourg Findel

Dear members of IBC Luxembourg

we are pleased to invite you to our next luncheon meeting where we have the pleasure of listening to our Guest Speaker

KOEN MARIS

Director Cyber Security PwC Luxembourg

Mr. Maris entitled his speech

THE GOOD, THE BAD AND UNKNOWN

"Information Security or Cyber Security relies on a model which we applied for years, since the very early days. This model changed very little, comfort has set in and unfortunately we are in situation where we rely too much on it almost like an addiction which prevents us from thinking about something new and question it. We don't have a malware problem. We have an adversary problem. There are people being paid to try to get inside our systems 24/7"

If you would like to attend, we invite you to reply before Friday 27th of September 2019 via e-mail to office@bankersclub.lu. The luncheon will be invoiced with 55€ all inclusive for Club members. Non-members shall pay a participation fee of 70 €.

Should you be unable to attend, we encourage you to pass on this invitation to the most appropriate member of the management team in your organisation.

Sincerely yours

Johan Lindberg

KOEN MARIS

Koen Maris is director Cyber Security at PWC Luxembourg, transforming ideas in to new services helping customers to embed cyber security enterprise wide.

Koen Maris started an IT career as a software developer. This experience provided solid background in complex environments and a basis in the roll-out of challenging IT projects. After a few years, he swapped development for ethical hacking because of a natural curiosity to flaws in systems. This was the start of technical career in IT security, however due to rise of security problems his career evolved from ethical hacking to security solutions integration and eventually to the managerial side of security.

He has been CISO and CTO at an international IT service provider preceding his current role (He advices large organizations in a multi-industry environment to think on a long-term basis on Cyber Security and addresses complex security topics in layman terms for board of directors and executive committees. Koen Maris serves as a trusted advisor for many organizations and is becoming a known speaker that challenges his audience and questions current applied security models.
